Jolene Navarro, a seventh generation Texan and Publisher's Weekly bestselling author, draws inspiration from her roots in Boerne and Leakey, Texas. Her life is woven with faith, family, laughter, and the beautiful chaos of everyday moments. Despite discovering dysgraphia in college, Jolene's passion for storytelling led her to pursue writing at forty, resulting in the publication of her first book, Lone Star Holiday, with Harlequin's Love Inspired line in 2013. Her stories embrace themes of forgiveness, redemption, and God's perfect love, resonating with readers across more than 25 published books.
